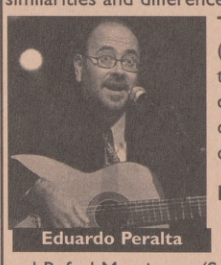
La Peña's Latin American Music Festival

Cantares Del Pueblo

Manuel Sanchez

La Peña brings together artists from Chile and Mexico to share musical leaders of the improvisational music forms of La Paya (Chile) and Son Jarocho (Mexico). The week of activities include two concerts, a poetry writing workshop and a roundtable where the touring artists will gather with Bay Area Latin American and Caribbean musicians to share their distinct forms of music and discuss the similarities and differences.



Eduardo Peralta

Tuesday, September 23: Poetry Workshop on La Paya!
(In Spanish/Español). Eduardo Peralta and Manuel Sanchez will speak and sing to show the historical development and the poetic and musical characteristics of La Paya. La Paya arrived to Chile from Spain and consists of a poetic discussion by 2 or more payadores at a time. This workshop will offer opportunities to learn how to write some of these poetry forms for music.

Friday September 26, 8pm
